U.S. Aims Economic Noose At Cuba

PRESIDENT JOHNSON fired back at Fidel Castro Friday by putting the Guantanamo Naval Base on a self-sufficient basis—a move that will never again require use of Cuban-supplied water and reduce the number of Cubans working there. WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is appealing to Allied governments to join in tightening an economic noose around Cuba following President Johnson's decision to separate the Guantanamo naval base completely from the Cuban economy and water supply.

Johnson in effect told Cuba to keep its water.

The presidential decision was announced by the State Department Friday night after a day-long series of conferences on how the United States should react to Prime Minister Fidel Castro's action Thursday in cutting the fresh water supply to the naval base.

At the same time a White House statement warned of the dangers of "further provocations by Castro" and declared that the prospects "should be carefully weighed by all nations."

This was taken to include a prod to the Kremlin to consider where Soviet support of the Cuban regime may be leading.

"The reckless and irresponsible conduct of the Cuban government remains a constant threat to the peace of this hemisphere," the White House said.

It added that "these matters" will be discussed with other Western Hemisphere nations in the Organization of American States and with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies.

Shortly before the White House announcement that Guantanamo would be made self-sufficient in water supplies, Secretary of State Dean Rusk pictured Castro as probably undertaking a concerted campaign to force the United States to abandon the big naval base on Cuba's eastern end.

"The basic fact is," Rusk told a news conference, "that we are in Guantanamo and will remain there for the foreseeable future."

Later Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos issued a statement on Havana radio to, he said, rebut Rusk's declaration that "we are making a premeditated campaign to expel the United States from Guantanamo."

"We will claim the base in the moment we consider convenient and will use the ways of international organizations that we will consider convenient for our claim," said Dorticos.

Johnson ordered the Defense Department to make Guantanamo self-sufficient.

With this order, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, the statement said, issued instructions to:

"Assure the base control over its own water supply both by conversion of sea water to fresh water and by the transportation of water by ship.

"Reduce the employment of Cuban personnel who are subject to the control of the Cuban government and whose wages contribute to its foreign exchange."

Asked if the Cuban water would be used if Castro turned it back on, a Defense Department spokesman said, "No. The new instruction means that we do not anticipate having to use water again from that source."

Administration officials said the President and his advisers

Reds Warn U.S., Britain

Gen. Khanh Forms New Viet Regime

Strong Man Names Self As Premier, Appoints Cabinet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, South Viet Nam's 36-year-old strong man, announced the formation of a new government today with himself as premier.

Dapper in paratrooper's fatigues, Khanh read the list of Cabinet officers from the steps of his office building and vowed to "bring forth all our strength to repel Communist aggression, to bring security to our people, especially those in the countryside."

Khanh named the popular Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh as chief of state. Minh, leader of the deposed military junta, is expected to have only nominal power.

Beatles Stir Up Storm

Britain's Rock 'n' Rollers Arrive In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—The Beatles, Britain's rock 'n' rollers with the haystack hairdos, blew up a teen-age storm by arriving here.

At Kennedy Airport Friday, about 3,000 delirious, shrieking, hooky-playing youngsters, many of them carrying Beatle banners, strained against police barricades to welcome the singing, guitar-strumming quartet.

It was mostly girls, girls, girls.

"I love them, I love them!" cried one.

"They're so cute!" said another.

"Their singing tears me apart and lets out all frustrations," sighed a Brooklyn girl.

Pelted by jelly beans and candy kisses, all loving every bit of it, were Beatles Paul McCartney, 21; George Harrison, 21; Ringo Starr, 23, and John Lennon, 23. Lennon's pretty blonde wife, Cynthia, accompanied the group but stayed well in the background.

The Beatles, their records best sellers for months, were almost an American institution before they got here. Already on sale are Beatle wigs, boots, T-shirts, sweatshirts, toss pillows and scarves. In Britain, 20,000 rag-mop wigs have been sold.

The adulation of the Beatles is reminiscent of the grip Frank Sinatra had on teen-agers some years ago and, more recently, of Elvis Presley.

But when a newsman described them as "four Elvis Presleys" the foursome shouted in unison: "No, no, no!"

The Beatles began their debut in a Liverpool jazz cellar 15 months ago for about $20 a week. They now command $10,000 a performance and are reputed to have earned $17 million.

Zooming into Manhattan, each in his own limousine, the Beatles created consternation at the staid old Plaza Hotel, where they're staying. There was a screaming crowd waiting there, and foot patrolmen and mounted troops had to take over.

The Beatles appear Sunday night on television. On Tuesday they go to Washington for a concert. On Wednesday they will give two shows at New York's Carnegie Hall—already sellouts. Another stop during their tour, which ends Feb. 17, is Miami Beach.

Keep Hands Off Cyprus, Mr. K Says

Brands Proposed NATO Peace Force As Armed Invasion

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The Soviet Union has injected itself directly into the Cyprus crisis by warning the United States and Britain to keep their hands off the strife-torn island.

While his ambassador called on President Archbishop Makarios in Nicosia, Soviet Premier Khrushchev took up the Cyprus issue in Moscow Friday, describing a proposed North Atlantic Treaty Organization peace force as "an armed invasion."

In identical notes to leaders of the United States, Britain, France, Greece and Turkey, Khrushchev accused some members of the Atlantic alliance of attempting to prevent a solution by the U.N. Security Council.

Khrushchev termed the proposed 10,000-man temporary peace keeping force a "crude encroachment on the sovereignty, independence and freedom of the Republic of Cyprus, an attempt to place this small neutral state under the military control of NATO."

He said the Soviet Union could not remain indifferent to developments so close to its southern borders.

Soviet Ambassador Pavel Yermoshin delivered another Khrushchev message to Makarios, but a spokesman for the Greek Cypriot leader refused to divulge its contents.

Although he has expressed willingness to accept a foreign police force on the island, Makarios wants the troops under U.N. control. The United States and Britain have rejected this condition because they regard it as an opening for Soviet interference on Cyprus.

In the past, the Russians have opposed U.N. peacekeeping operations in the Middle East and the Congo.

In London, the British Foreign Office described Khrushchev's note as a "gross misrepresentation of the situation."

Benefits Would Begin March 1

Feb. 19 Or 20 Set As Goal To Wrap Up Tax Cut Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressional leaders, spurred on by President Johnson, today fixed Feb. 19 or 20 as the goal for final action on the largest tax cut in U.S. history.

The benefits, including more dollars in take-home pay, would begin about the first of March.

The Senate passed its $11.6-billion version of the legislation Friday, 77 to 21, well ahead of the original Feb. 11 deadline fixed by its leaders.

Even before the final vote, Johnson was conferring with his Capitol Hill lieutenants about speeding up plans for the Senate-House conference to reconcile the differences between the two chambers' versions.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., who heads the Senate delegation, told a reporter it was decided to begin the conference next Monday instead of Feb. 17 as planned earlier.

He said that the conferees could meet only on Monday and Tuesday next week since Republicans will be leaving town for Lincoln Day speeches.

But he said the explanation of what changes the Senate made in the $11.1-billion version passed by the House would be covered in those two days, so that voting can start when the conference reconvenes on Feb. 17.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., another conferee, said that under this schedule the Senate-House group should be able to come up with compromise bill by Feb. 18 or 19. A final vote could come one day later.

If this schedule is met, the benefits of the bill should start flowing about March 1. The Senate version provides that the reduction in wage and salary withholding to reflect the cuts in income tax rates shall begin one week after the bill is signed.

The Senate completed its consideration of the bill in seven days, four of them involving night sessions. On the final vote, 56 Democrats and 21 Republicans supported the bill. Opposed were 11 Democrats, including eight Southerners, and 10 Republicans.

The House and Senate versions are identical in their rate reductions for the nation's 80 million individual and 550,000 corporate taxpayers. Thus there is no question of their eventual adoption.

The Senate bill, however, would immediately cut the 14 per cent withholding rate to 18 per cent instead of to 15 per cent as voted by the House.

House managers have indicated that they will go along with the lower rate, which was asked by Johnson, but perhaps insist that companies be given longer than one week to put it into effect in issuing pay checks.

Many firms have said it is impossible to do it in a week.

When the 14 per cent rate takes effect, it will pour an additional $800 million a month into the economy. The administration is counting on this to stimulate economic growth, create more jobs and bring in additional tax revenue.

In Extraordinary Session

West Virginia Legislature Will Reconvene Monday

CHARLESTON (AP) — The West Virginia Legislature reconvenes Monday in extraordinary session with the considerable task of legislating some members out of their positions.

Gov. W. W. Barron called the special session after the State Supreme Court Friday invalidated the state's 1963 reapportionment act.

The court ruled that a provision of the act allowing each county at least one seat in the House of Delegates regardless of population violated the State Constitution.

The basis of the ruling was an article in the constitution requiring counties with less than a certain population to be combined with other counties to form a delegate district. The minimum, based on the 1960 census, is a population of 10,530. The legislature has ignored the provision since 1901.

While the court ruling dealt directly only with the apportionment of delegate seats, the judges said the entire act was unconstitutional because its parts cannot be dealt with separately.

That means the portions of the law dealing with state senatorial and U.S. Congressional districts also are invalid.

The ruling apparently will have no effect on the congressional districts since the law automatically reverts to a similar 1961 statute.

The 1963 law had increased the State Senate from 32 to 34 members by adding a second senate district to Kanawa-

County. The court said such a move would have been constitutional by itself, but because the entire act is invalid, that portion also is nullified.

Although the 1963 law has been invalidated, the legislative candidates who filed under its provisions still will be able to run in this year's elections.

The legislators anticipated the court decision and passed a law legalizing all candidacies regardless of new apportionment.

West Virginia Budget Record $156 Million

CHARLESTON (AP) — West Virginia is going to have a record $156.3 million to spend on state operations during the next fiscal year beginning July 1.

That was the amount of the budget passed Friday by the legislature. It exceeds this year's budget by $4.5 million.

Education will have the most money to spend with $95.2 million, an increase of $2.7 million over this year's total. More than half the increase will provide salary increases for teachers and administrators.

The legislature also voted significant increases for health and welfare programs, as well as for state institutions.

The budget includes $31 million for health and welfare, compared with $28.4 million this year; while appropriations for charities and correctional institutions are up almost $300,000 over the present sum.

Both houses passed the budget without dissenting votes; the House 90-0 and the Senate 29-0.

Major Items Of Senate's Tax Cut Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the major provisions of the 11.6-billion tax cut bill passed by the Senate Friday:

Individual Rates — The present schedule of 20 to 91 per cent would be reduced to 14 to 70 per cent, with two-thirds of the cut effective in 1964 retroactive to Jan. 1, one-third in 1965. The Senate and House bills are identical.

Withholding from Salaries and Wages — The Senate bill would cut rates from the present 18 per cent to a 14 per cent one week after the measure is signed. The House bill would cut it to 15 per cent this year, 14 per cent starting in 1965.

Corporate Rates — The present 52 per cent tax—30 per cent normal, 22 per cent surtax—cut to 50 per cent this year retroactive to Jan. 1, 48 per cent starting in 1965. Normal and surtax rates would be reversed so they would wind up 22 per cent normal and 26 per cent surtax next year to give a greater break to small firms. The Senate and House bills are identical.

Capital Gains — The House bill would cut rates on stock or other assets held more than two years so any gain would be taxed at 40 per cent of normal levy with a 21 per cent ceiling and would retain the present rate of 50 per cent of regular tax with a 25 per cent ceiling for those held six months to two years. The Senate bill would continue present rates unchanged.

Itemized Deductions — The House bill would deny deductions, now permitted, for state

Snow Squalls Slick Roads

Only 'Flurries' Seen With Mercury Drop

Just as the Ohio weatherman had uttered the last syllable of his forecast of "flurries," Old Man Winter socked him in the mouth with a big fat pillow of goose feathers.

But it was no pillow fight for motorists — forenoon snow squalls dwindling occasionally to flurries left area highways with a slippery coating. The blustery wind accompanying the snow indicated a possible accumulation by nightfall.

Chester Whitehouse, county supervisor for the State Highway Department, said first cinder crews started out shortly before midnight as the flurries began. Trucks were called to duty in East Liverpool, Wellsville, Hanoverton, Lisbon and Leetonia areas.

He said the wind was blowing the roads clear in most sections but there were slippery spots. An accumulation of 2 to 3 inches was expected in the Canton - Massillon area but only flurries were forecast for Columbiana County.

The sun was out bright and warming between the squalls. Winter's bite will be sharper with still lower temperature expected for the weekend. The downtown had a sub-freezing 21 at 7 a.m. and tonight's low may drop to 16. Sunday will continue cold with more "flurries."

Notice Masons! Riddle Lodge will conduct funeral services for late brother Earl Greenawalt, at the Martin Funeral Home tonight at 7:30. Meet at Temple at 7. Ed Broadhead, worshipful master.—Adv.

Guantanamo Not Our Goal, Castro Says

Claims Water Cut To Get Release Of Seized Fishermen

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro says Cuba has no intention of using force to evict the United States from Guantanamo Bay.

"We are not planning a fight for the Guantanamo base," Castro told newsmen Friday night.

Castro said Cuba's only reason for halting the flow of fresh water to the big U.S. Navy installation was to seek the freedom of Cuban fishermen seized off the Florida coast.

The Cuban leader rejected an interpretation by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk that the water cutoff appeared to be the first step in "a concerted campaign" to evict the United States from Guantanamo.

"We are fighting for the liberation of the fishermen," Castro said. "The problem of the base is part of a series of circumstances that constitute a source of friction and tension between the United States and Cuba and that have to be dealt within the general aspect of these relations."

Wellsville Girl Hurt When Car Strikes Pole

A Wellsville teen-age girl suffered minor injuries early today when her car struck a utility pole, the Lisbon State Highway Patrol reported.

Mary Jane Milligan, 17, of 407 3rd St., was treated at City Hospital for abrasions of the left forehead, chin and knee.

The patrol said her auto hit a utility pole at 1:20 this morning on Township Rd. 1004, almost three miles north of the Wellsville limits.

In a crash at 5 a.m. today, Charles J. Vekas Jr., 26, of Mentor lost control while southbound on Route 30 and crashed into a utility pole. He was unhurt in the mishap three and one-half miles south of West Point.

Beckwith's Release On Bond Sought

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Defense lawyers prepared today for a legal fight to free Byron De La Beckwith on bond pending a new trial on a charge of murder.

Beckwith, 43, a segregationist, had confidently expected to stroll the streets of his hometown, Greenwood, this weekend. Instead he was still in a cell, astonished by a mistrial.

The all-white jury in the 12-day-old Circuit Court trial was dismissed Friday after reporting itself deadlocked. It had deliberated 11 hours.

Beckwith, who is white, was charged with gunning down Medgar Evers, 37, a Negro, state field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mrs. Evers declined comment on the outcome.

Jurors packed their belongings as quickly as possible and left the courthouse. Judge Leon F. Hendrick urged them not to talk to anybody about their deliberations.

Completion Date Advanced

Construction Is Resumed On Extension Of Freeway

The contractor for the U. S. Route 30 relocation between East Liverpool and the Route 170 Interchange at Calcutta has resumed work on the project and is expected to finish the job well ahead of his July completion date, according to Earl W. Nelson, deputy director of the Division 11 office at New Philadelphia.

The second phase of the Lake Erie-Ohio River Freeway has been nearly complete over the winter and traffic has been using south-bound lanes for some time.

Department officials decided to leave north-bound lanes closed, as it became necessary to construct some paved gutter for drainage purposes and to extend a large culvert pipe. This was necessary in order to correct a landslide which develop-

House Civil Rights Fight Hits Climax

Bipartisan Drive Seeks Fair Jobs Practice Provision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House civil rights fight reaches its climax today with a bipartisan drive to write a fair employment practices provision into the bill.

Southern opponents, who have been overwhelmed by a coalition of Republicans and Northern Democrats on every other section, hope to gain enough support to kill the employment provision.

House leaders want to finish action on the provision and three other minor ones and put the entire bill to a final vote tonight.

But Southerners won assurances no effort would be made to limit debate in order to meet the deadline, thus leaving the possibility that a final vote wouldn't come until Monday.

Head-On Crash Hurts Cleveland Motorist

A Cleveland motorist was hurt slightly in a head-on collision early this morning on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd.," police reported.

William G. Morgan Jr., 24, was treated at City Hospital for abrasions of the scalp and left hand after the crash with an eastbound auto driven by Louis B. Scarella, 34, of 359 Beaver Ave., Midland. It was timed at 2:30 a.m.

Police said Scarella didn't know what happened. Morgan told them he saw the lights of an approaching car and thought there was sufficient room to avoid a collision. He had no idea why the cars collided, police said.

Police said Scarella's 1956 sedan was a total loss and there was damage to the front and left side of Morgan's 1964 sedan.

CHARLESTON (AP) — The West Virginia Legislature reconvenes Monday in extraordinary session with the considerable task of legislating some members out of their positions.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is appealing to Allied governments to join in tightening an economic noose around Cuba following President Johnson's decision to separate the Guantanamo naval base completely from the Cuban economy and water supply.

Johnson in effect told Cuba to keep its water.

The presidential decision was announced by the State Department Friday night after a day-long series of conferences on how the United States should react to Prime Minister Fidel Castro's action Thursday in cutting the fresh water supply to the naval base.

At the same time a White House statement warned of the dangers of "further provocations by Castro" and declared that the prospects "should be carefully weighed by all nations."

Asked if the Cuban water would be used if Castro turned it back on, a Defense Department spokesman said, "No. The new instruction means that we do not anticipate having to use water again from that source."

Administration officials said the President and his advisers

The adulation of the Beatles is reminiscent of the grip Frank Sinatra had on teen-agers some years ago and, more recently, of Elvis Presley.

But when a newsman described them as "four Elvis Presleys" the foursome shouted in unison: "No, no, no!"

The Beatles began their debut in a Liverpool jazz cellar 15 months ago for about $20 a week. They now command $10,000 a performance and are reputed to have earned $17 million.

Zooming into Manhattan, each in his own limousine, the Beatles created consternation at the staid old Plaza Hotel, where they're staying. There was a screaming crowd waiting there, and foot patrolmen and mounted troops had to take over.

The Beatles appear Sunday night on television. On Tuesday they go to Washington for a concert. On Wednesday they will give two shows at New York's Carnegie Hall—already sellouts. Another stop during their tour, which ends Feb. 17, is Miami Beach.

Keep Hands Off Cyprus, Mr. K Says

Brands Proposed NATO Peace Force As Armed Invasion

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The Soviet Union has injected itself directly into the Cyprus crisis by warning the United States and Britain to keep their hands off the strife-torn island.

While his ambassador called on President Archbishop Makarios in Nicosia, Soviet Premier Khrushchev took up the Cyprus issue in Moscow Friday, describing a proposed North Atlantic Treaty Organization peace force as "an armed invasion."

In identical notes to leaders of the United States, Britain, France, Greece and Turkey, Khrushchev accused some members of the Atlantic alliance of attempting to prevent a solution by the U.N. Security Council.

Khrushchev termed the proposed 10,000-man temporary peace keeping force a "crude encroachment on the sovereignty, independence and freedom of the Republic of Cyprus, an attempt to place this small neutral state under the military control of NATO."

He said the Soviet Union could not remain indifferent to developments so close to its southern borders.

Soviet Ambassador Pavel Yermoshin delivered another Khrushchev message to Makarios, but a spokesman for the Greek Cypriot leader refused to divulge its contents.

Although he has expressed willingness to accept a foreign police force on the island, Makarios wants the troops under U.N. control. The United States and Britain have rejected this condition because they regard it as an opening for Soviet interference on Cyprus.

In the past, the Russians have opposed U.N. peacekeeping operations in the Middle East and the Congo.

In London, the British Foreign Office described Khrushchev's note as a "gross misrepresentation of the situation."

Guantanamo Not Our Goal, Castro Says

Claims Water Cut To Get Release Of Seized Fishermen

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro says Cuba has no intention of using force to evict the United States from Guantanamo Bay.

"We are not planning a fight for the Guantanamo base," Castro told newsmen Friday night. Castro said Cuba's only reason for halting the flow of fresh water to the big U.S. Navy installation was to seek the freedom of Cuban fishermen seized off the Florida coast.

The Cuban leader rejected an interpretation by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk that the water cutoff appeared to be the first step in "a concerted campaign" to evict the United States from Guantanamo.

"We are fighting for the liberation of the fishermen," Castro said. "The problem of the base is part of a series of circumstances that constitute a source of friction and tension between the United States and Cuba and that have to be dealt within the general aspect of these relations."

Wellsville Girl Hurt When Car Strikes Pole

A Wellsville teen-age girl suffered minor injuries early today when her car struck a utility pole, the Lisbon State Highway Patrol reported.

Mary Jane Milligan, 17, of 407 3rd St., was treated at City Hospital for abrasions of the left forehead, chin and knee.

The patrol said her auto hit a utility pole at 1:20 this morning on Township Rd. 1004, almost three miles north of the Wellsville limits.

In a crash at 5 a. m. today, Charles J. Vekas Jr., 26, of Mentor lost control while southbound on Route 30 and crashed into a utility pole. He was unhurt in the mishap three and one-half miles south of West Point.

Beckwith's Release On Bond Sought

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Defense lawyers prepared today for a legal fight to free Byron De La Beckwith on bond pending a new trial on a charge of murder.

Beckwith, 43, a segregationist, had confidently expected to stroll the streets of his hometown, Greenwood, this weekend. Instead he was still in a cell, astonished by a mistrial.

The all-white jury in the 12-day-old Circuit Court trial was dismissed Friday after reporting itself deadlocked. It had deliberated 11 hours.

Beckwith, who is white, was charged with gunning down Medgar Evers, 37, a Negro, state field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mrs. Evers declined comment on the outcome.

Jurors packed their belongings as quickly as possible and left the courthouse. Judge Leon F. Hendrick urged them not to talk to anybody about their deliberations.

House Civil Rights Fight Hits Climax

Bipartisan Drive Seeks Fair Jobs Practice Provision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House civil rights fight reaches its climax today with a bipartisan drive to write a fair employment practices provision into the bill.

Southern opponents, who have been overwhelmed by a coalition of Republicans and Northern Democrats on every other section, hope to gain enough support to kill the employment provision.

House leaders want to finish action on the provision and three other minor ones and put the entire bill to a final vote tonight.

But Southerners won assurances no effort would be made to limit debate in order to meet the deadline, thus leaving the possibility that a final vote wouldn't come until Monday.

Completion Date Advanced

Construction Is Resumed On Extension Of Freeway

The contractor for the U. S. Route 30 relocation between East Liverpool and the Route 170 Interchange at Calcutta has resumed work on the project and is expected to finish the job well ahead of his July completion date, according to Earl W. Nelson, deputy director of the Division 11 office at New Philadelphia.

The second phase of the Lake Erie-Ohio River Freeway has been nearly complete over the winter and traffic has been using south-bound lanes for some time.

Department officials decided to leave north-bound lanes closed, as it became necessary to construct some paved gutter for drainage purposes and to extend a large culvert pipe. This was necessary in order to correct a landslide which developed last summer along old U.S. 30. In addition, some corrective work was necessary in the same area.

Nelson said that the contractor has started work on the additional construction and that it is expected he will complete this so that the project can be open to traffic by summer.

No definite completion date has been set for the additional work, but department engineers expect that it will be complete well before the July 31 date set for completion of the entire project.

Nelson said that the date for a formal opening has not as yet been determined but that he is working with officials of the highway committee of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce.

Head-On Crash Hurts Cleveland Motorist

A Cleveland motorist was hurt slightly in a head-on collision early this morning on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd.," police reported.

William G. Morgan Jr., 24, was treated at City Hospital for abrasions of the scalp and left hand after the crash with an eastbound auto driven by Louis B. Scarella, 34, of 359 Beaver Ave., Midland. It was timed at 2:30 a. m.

Police said Scarella didn't know what happened. Morgan told them he saw the lights of an approaching car and thought there was sufficient room to avoid a collision. He had no idea why the cars collided, police said.

Police said Scarella's 1956 sedan was a total loss and there was damage to the front and left side of Morgan's 1964 sedan.

gasoline taxes, auto tags, drivers' licenses, liquor taxes, tobacco taxes and certain excise taxes including those on admissions and hotel rooms. The Senate bill would continue deductions on gasoline taxes, auto tags and drivers' licenses.

Stock Dividend Credit Income —Both bills would repeal the 4 per cent credit on stock dividend income which may now be subtracted from taxes due. They also would double the present exclusion of such income from taxable income; the new allowances would be $100 for an individual, $200 for a married couple.

Minimum Standard Deduction —This feature, the same in both bills, would allow a flat deduction of $300 for each taxpayer plus $100 for each exemption after his own. It could be used as an alternative to the present deduction of 10 per cent of gross income up to a $1,000 maximum.

believe the decision on the American response is appropriate to the challenge posed by Castro in closing the pipeline to the base.

Despite initial anger at Castro's move the President's advisers now consider it a harassment rather than a serious threat and therefore not requiring more forceful countermeasures.

The actions ordered by Johnson will cost Castro more than $5 million a year when they are fully carried out.

The Guantanamo base employs about 3,000 Cubans, of whom 500 live on the base. The earnings of the 2,500 who live in Cuba proper have put more than $5 million a year into the Cuban economy, giving Castro much needed dollars for use in international trade.

Officials said that the 2,500 will be given the choice of making their homes on the base or in some cases of spending their dollars there for such things as food and drugs instead of making their purchases in the Cuban economy.

Those who do not cooperate in these measures to keep the dollars away from the Castro government will be dismissed, it was said.

Another dollar earner for Castro has been the supplying of water from a plant on the Yateras River about five miles outside the Guantanamo boundary. The United States has paid $14,000 a month for the water.

U.S. officials were not sure how the European allies would react to the new appeal to increase economic pressures on Cuba.

Undersecretary of State George Ball made the initial approach Friday in meetings with the British ambassador Sir David Ormsby-Gore and the French ambassador, Herve Alphand.

Ball argued that Castro's new action constituted an example of the kind of provocative moves which on a large scale could create a dangerous and explosive situation once more in the Western Hemisphere.

Only Friday, however, it was disclosed that a French firm has sold 300 heavy-duty trucks to Cuba with the assistance of a financial guarantee from the French government. French informants estimated the amount of the contract at $10 million. The trucks are believed to be badly needed by Castro.

Earlier the Leyland Motor Co. of Britain sold $11 million worth of buses to Cuba.

Driver Cited After Crash

SALINEVILLE — A charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol was filed by Police Chief Roy Lewis against John C. Miller, 48, of R. D. 1 Friday night after a traffic crash.

In a two - car crash Friday morning at 10:50 on Main St., Mrs. Vivian Barnes, 45, of 161 E. Main St., was charged with driving left of center.

Central Service Case

Looted Of $175 Goods

Theft of nearly $175 worth of transistor radios and a portable record player from a display case at Central Service, 142 W. 7th St., was reported to police this morning.

The loot included an AM-FM record player worth $75, an 8-transistor radio valued at $39.95 and four 6-transistor radios worth $14.95 each, police were told.

Patrolman Jerry Adkins, who investigated, said entrance between 6 p.m. Friday and 8:15 this morning was gained by breaking an 18-by-36-inch window on the south side of the garage. It was the same window which had been broken earlier this week, he said.

U.S.-Cuba

believe the decision on the American response is appropriate to the challenge posed by Castro in closing the pipeline to the base.

Despite initial anger at Castro's move the President's advisers now consider it a harassment rather than a serious threat and therefore not requiring more forceful countermeasures.

The actions ordered by Johnson will cost Castro more than $5 million a year when they are fully carried out.

The Guantanamo base employs about 3,000 Cubans, of whom 500 live on the base. The earnings of the 2,500 who live in Cuba proper have put more than $5 million a year into the Cuban economy, giving Castro much needed dollars for use in international trade.

Officials said that the 2,500 will be given the choice of making their homes on the base or in some cases of spending their dollars there for such things as food and drugs instead of making their purchases in the Cuban economy.

Those who do not cooperate in these measures to keep the dollars away from the Castro government will be dismissed, it was said.

Another dollar earner for Castro has been the supplying of water from a plant on the Yateras River about five miles outside the Guantanamo boundary. The United States has paid $14,000 a month for the water.

U.S. officials were not sure how the European allies would react to the new appeal to increase economic pressures on Cuba.

Undersecretary of State George Ball made the initial approach Friday in meetings with the British ambassador Sir David Ormsby-Gore and the French ambassador, Herve Alphand.

Ball argued that Castro's new action constituted an example of the kind of provocative moves which on a large scale could create a dangerous and explosive situation once more in the Western Hemisphere.

Only Friday, however, it was disclosed that a French firm has sold 300 heavy-duty trucks to Cuba with the assistance of a financial guarantee from the French government. French informants estimated the amount of the contract at $10 million. The trucks are believed to be badly needed by Castro.

Earlier the Leyland Motor Co. of Britain sold $11 million worth of buses to Cuba.

2 Sentenced, Fined $353

Two city men cited by Wellsville police Sunday after a traffic accident were fined a total of $353.70 and costs, and each was given 10 days in jail, at hearings Friday night before Mayor W. W. Daugherty.

Charles Landy, 22, of Valley Ave. was fined $200 for driving while intoxicated, 15 for escaping from custody, $15 for operating an unsafe vehicle and $15 for permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his vehicle. Kenneth Adkins, 2216 Crawford Ave., was fined $50 for driving without a license, $25 for drinking in a motor vehicle and $25 for leaving the scene of an accident.

Police said Adkins was driving a car which struck a utility pole at 3rd and Lisbon Sts., Wellsville. The car is owned by Landy, who was a passenger.

After the mishap, police said, the two switched positions and Landy took the wheel. They were stopped on the super-road.

Police explained the charge of escaping from custody was filed against Landy when he walked away from City Hospital, where he had been a patient for injuries received in the crash. But he "came in on his own" for the hearing, police said.

Adkins had requested a jury trial, but later changed his mind, police said.

1883 Ruling Made Trouble

If Congress can pass the civil rights bill by Abraham Lincoln's birthday next Wednesday, an issue that has plagued the Union almost from the moment the Emancipator saved it will be on the way to final settlement.
Eighty years ago, actions brought under the Civil Rights Act of 1875 involved denials of hotel accommodations to Negroes, refusal to admit a Negro to the dress circle of a San Francisco theater and refusal of a railroad conductor to let a woman "of African descent" to ride in the ladies' car of a train.
The U.S. Supreme Court ruled the Civil Rights Act of 1875 unconstitutional on the grounds that neither the 13th Amendment, abolishing slavery, nor the 14th Amendment, relating to rights of citizenship, gave Congress power to enact such a measure.
The court said that the 14th Amendment applied only to denial of rights by state action. "The wrongful act of an individual . . ." the Court ruled, "is . . . an invasion of the rights of the injured party. It is true . . . ; but if not sanctioned in some way by the state, or not done under state authority, his rights remain in full force, and may presumably be vindicated by resort to the laws of the state for redress."
And again: "It is state action of a particular character that is prohibited.

Individual invasion of individual rights is not the subject matter of the 14th Amendment."
ATTORNEY GEN. Robert F. Kennedy in lead-off testimony on the civil rights bill last June expressed the opinion the present Supreme Court would almost certainly reverse the 1883 decision.
In the North and West, numerous states have enacted statutes along the lines of the invalidated federal act of 1875.
In fact President Kennedy in a message of June 19 pointed out that 39 states, the District of Columbia, and five cities now had laws or ordinances of that sort. By executive order last June the governors of Indiana and Kentucky forbade racial discrimination in all businesses licensed by their states.

THE 1883 DECISION is still the law of the land, and that's why the administration relied on the commerce clause rather than the 14th Amendment to back up the proposed civil rights law.
Congress, under Article 1, Section 8 of the Constitution, has the power to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states and with the Indian tribes.
On this provision — rather than the Constitution's 14th Amendment — the public accommodations title of the administration's civil rights bill is primarily based.

The New Shape Of Poverty

Key project in the Johnson administration's domestic program is elimination of poverty.
Many have been comparing this with Franklin D. Roosevelt's political masterstroke when he dedicated his administration to helping a vaguely defined one-third of the nation that was "ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-housed."
There is a substantial difference between the poverty of the '30s and the poverty of the '60s. Poverty today has a new shape.
In the '30s people who were down and out, in the sense of lacking money resources, constituted close to a majority. They included millions of "new poor"—people who were victims of the economic collapse.
Nearly all of them were capable of making a comeback; most of them did. They picked themselves up off the floor and joined the "affluent society."
THE KIND of poverty the Johnson administration is referring to is more distressing. There is no hope for it. It is not only a poverty of money but a poverty of skill, initiative and culture.
When earning power is measured in this kind of poverty, the measurement is not only in shortage of money but in paucity of hope and potentiality.
Its victims are the residue of an affluence precipitating out all human beings who lack skills indispensable for successful living. They are poor not only in terms of income but in terms of satisfaction in the lives they are living. They lack not only financial means but hope and initiative. They have no prospects.
Whether President Johnson's 11-point program in his State of the Union message can help them is uncertain. Many of his points blandly assume their problems can be solved by government help. This has not been proved. It has not been proved that anyone has enough knowledge to cope with the problem that lies in this kind of poverty.
Perhaps it is the kind referred to in the Book of John: "The poor always we have with you." There may need to be definitions of what constitutes poverty and studies to show why this most ancient of tragedies has become congenial in some areas and in some groups.
PRESIDENT JOHNSON has set the proportion of poverty at one-fifth of the population. President Roosevelt estimated it was a third.
Another president might say it was a fourth. A sociologist might define poverty more exactly and say it affected a sixth or a seventh of the population.
The Johnson administration will not eliminate it; that is certain. But in an election year it will make a wonderfully broad and flexible talking point.

How To Pacify Cyprus

The drastic move that might pacify Cyprus never has been tried.
If it ever were tried, Britain would notify all Cypriotes that it had grown weary of its historic role as policeman, mediator and whipping boy.
The British and their friends, notably the Americans, would wheel up a fleet of ships and an armada of airplanes and load up their families and possessions, lock, stock and barrel.
They would broadcast the information that they would not return en masse or in any official capacity—ever. They would let the Cypriotes know the only outsiders they would see in the future would be individuals invited to come there; that henceforth Cypriotes would be free to kill one another at will, with the odds favoring the Greek majority and running strongly against the Turkish minority.

The purpose would be to make certain no non-Cypriote soldier ever again would be killed or wounded in the hopeless task of pacifying the inhabitants of an island whose half-million-odd inhabitants have shown such an incredible aptitude for riots, disorder and wanton blood-letting that no one really believes they want to be pacified.
As long as they want to fight and are a self-determining republic, they might as well be given the opportunity to get it all out of their system.

Dear Nephew: Every year you get the glums in February, and we try to cheer you up.
We got 'em, too — the glums.
Wherever we look we see termites gnawing away at everything we want to save.
It never was plainer than it is now that we are collectively foolish and individually inadequate.
Whether you rivet your attention on Bobby Baker in Washington or Fidel Castro in Cuba, you realize the problems confronting us are too gigantic for the pygmies in charge.
It is enough to make anyone feel like going to the rear of the cave and burrowing into a pile of leaves.
EVERYTHING SEEMS TO BE WRONG. Even Richard M. Nixon, the personification of Yankee Doodle Dandy, says he thinks Nikita Khrushchev, the Russian wheelerdealer, is the best statesman in the world today. He did exclude our President Johnson, however, on the grounds our boy hasn't had as much international experience.

them out to be. They never are. These people peddle despair.
The way to get through the Glums is to remember that the world is no worse than usual — that our resistance to the endless drip-drip-drip of despair just grows weaker sometimes.
And to aggravate matters, there are more Cassandras and Gloomy Guses than there used to be, and they can't wait to bog us down in a daily gush of sour misgivings. Remember, this is the way they make their living — by ferreting out everything wrong, multiplying it by 10 and telling us we are getting the straight dope.
WE'RE GETTING the dope, all right. The trick is not to become an addict.
The symptom of addiction is inability to lay off the stuff long enough to see the world as it always has been — a mixture of good and evil, black and white, sweet and sour.

Tough Season Of The Year

Space Site Rail Spur Gets 'Hot'

By Victor Riesel

It may yet take longer to cross a 4 1/2 mile brand new railroad link connecting Cape Kennedy with the Merritt Island moonport.

than it will take to shuttle through space between that base and the moon itself.
The untold story of this tiny rail spur which leads to the world's first massive moon Vertical Assembly Building is not a science-fiction tale.
It's the story of the longest railroad strike in recent history. Here is the dramatic record of the fight between the executives of one railroad—the Florida East Coast on one side, and the White House, the Pentagon, the railroad unions and the entire AFL-CIO on the other.
It began back in 1962, just about two years after the line had pulled out of a 30-year bankruptcy. First, the road was hit by the ban on trade with Cuba which had been its main source of revenue, and then by a bitter freeze which damaged the Florida fruit crops. At this point the off-train rail unions demanded a 10.3 cent-an-hour increase.

They soon had 700 employees in place of the striking 1300 signalmen, telegraphers, clerks and other off-train personnel and the original 700 on-train union workers, such as locomotive engineers, who respected the picket lines.
By January 1964 the line reported that its freight service was practically normal.

THE UNIONS put pressure on the government and late last year the government, in turn, put the heat on the FECRR.

The White House under the late President Kennedy, and then under President Johnson, went into action. All federal agencies were ordered to boycott the lines. The Army Corps of Engineers, the Air Force and NASA subsequently put an embargo on military and space shipments.

The Justice Department sued in federal court to force the road to fire the 500 replacements and rehire the strikers. The National Mediation Board and a special Presidential Emergency Board directed the road to comply. Edward Ball listened, agreed to negotiate and insisted that a stenographic record be kept of all talks in which he participated—but he refused to dismiss the newly hired strikers' replacements.
At all times the road operated legally, fighting every federal and union action in the courts. Ball and his operating chief, W. L. Thornton, vice president of the FEC, in effect had instituted the anti-featherbedding work rules for which the nation's other railroads still are fighting—and over which there may be other rail strikes later this month.

ON JAN. 28, 1964 — a year and five days after the strike hit the 572-mile line which runs from Jacksonville to Miami — the road reported it was again making a profit. Just about this time the spur to the "Moonport" was completed.
On Feb. 3 engineers from NASA and the army toured the strip and said it was ready for use. This meant that the vast tonnage needed by the vertical assembly, the industrial complexes and the first launching pad for manned-moon rockets should soon start coming over the FECRR spur.
But it's a "hot" line. Anything shipped over the truck road is "hot cargo" in union jargon. The material can be hauled by the FEC over the 4 1/2 mile spur to the Merritt Island marshalling yards and the "vertical" — but what then?
Will the unionized construction workers pass the railroad unions' picket lines? Will they handle the "hot cargo" or will they break their no-strike pledge made for such defense projects? Will they succeed in forcing NASA to take the spur from the FEC with which NASA has a contract?
TO TOP ALL this, the national AFL-CIO itself is in the fight. At its national convention in New York last November it passed a resolution pledging "fullest possible support of the entire American labor movement to the strikers on the Florida East Coast Railway and urging all affiliates to do everything in their power to give them whatever assistance is possible.
If all forces make good their threats and the construction unions refuse to work at the other end of the line it will be a long time before there is a moon landing.

Letters To The Editor

South Side Uniforms Discussed

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:
We were indignant when we read the letter from Mrs. Eva Simmons in the Tuesday Review criticizing our new South Side band uniforms and assuming without corroboration that the school colors had been changed.
Our band needed new uniforms desperately—the old ones were worn, shoddy and mismatched. There were no funds to order new uniforms, costing $75 each, so when the opportunity came to buy some used ones from another school at $5 each we showed a sample uniform to the band members and to the director and asked if they would like to have them.
They were enthusiastic, because the uniforms were in fine condition and the cream color with dark blue trim looked neat and snappy. Our band director commented that many of the bigger schools outfit their bands in uniforms that are not in their school colors. A band may choose its own band colors if it so wishes. The football team's uniforms are white with red numerals and no one squawked about that.
We felt it was important to outfit our band now in what we could afford rather than make them wait several years until $7,500 might be available for made-to-order uniforms.
The band members worked to raise $100, the PTA contributed $100 and the Citizens' Association put in $200. The band members paid to have the uniforms cleaned. It was a joint project and we were proud to have accomplished it.
The band was pleased and happy, and the school colors are still black and white. If anyone has to ask what school our band is from, we all will be glad to tell them: "South Side, where we work together to get things done."

If Mrs. Simmons wishes to start a fund for black and white uniforms, we will gladly accept her help. Any further questions can be discussed at the next citizens' meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 19.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:
I read in The Review a letter from a former band member from South Side High School who didn't like the uniforms the band now has.
Our school colors have not changed and we're proud to wear the present uniforms.
Our band has increased greatly since our new director, George Russi, has been with us. Our old uniforms were badly in need of repair and we needed additional ones. The band did not have the money to involve in trying to fix the old ones and buy new ones, too, so all new ones were purchased at a fair price.
The band members do feel right when we wear these uniforms, because now we all match.
If some of these chronic complainers would help our band, we would appreciate it very much.
As far as the football season goes, only two teams play and two bands march. If people aren't smart enough to figure out what school we're from, they have no business coming.

Why Doesn't City Pay, Reader Asks

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:
I think it is real unfair to all of the people of St. Clair Township that the city of East Liverpool is allowed to get out of paying real estate taxes on the 27 acres they own in St. Clair Township in Bloomfield, which they bought for use as a trash and garbage dump.
This land, according to an account in The Review at the time of purchase, was bought by the city for $17,500. In 1962, these lands were published in The Review as delinquent in real estate tax payments. The valuation for taxes was around $2,500. The city then appealed to the Ohio State Board of Appeals and had these lands exempted from the tax list and back taxes remitted. This can be verified at the county auditor's office.
All the other land owners have to pay real estate taxes. Even a widow on a $65-a-month pension has to pay her taxes or have her home sold from under her. Why the city would go to so much trouble to get out of paying around $80 a year I do not understand.

The way they are cracking down on city income tax evaders sounds like the pot calling the kettle black when they have a tax-free dump in our township.
I am not complaining about the dump. I am complaining about some one having special privilege. I think our St. Clair Township trustees should get on their toes and look out for the best interests of the people who elected them. The city of East Liverpool should have to pay extra in my opinion instead of going free.

City solicitor Joseph W. Cooper explained that a new real estate used for municipal purposes is exempt from such taxation under state law. The steps taken by the city to have the property removed from the tax duplicate are standard procedure under Ohio law, he pointed out.

More On Valley Ave. Situation

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:
In answer to the letter that appeared in the Review on Feb. 5, a statement was made that the judge didn't like the reasons they gave for wanting the road closed.
For getting timber off of the hill, I, Ed Banicki, live on Smith Dairy Rd., which property borders Valley Ave. on 407 foot of frontage. In which 274 feet is blocked by a two-stall garage and fence.
Last fall I asked the prosecuting attorney for permission for a rightaway to get into this property, mainly for post and cordwood, and he told me if I wanted it out to carry it out on my back, which I did.
And that was the only decl-sion that was made. The judge didn't give a decision. And you call that road Valley Ave. open. That blockade is still in the middle of it.

Since the road is supposed to be wide open, the alley in which we travel is 20 foot or less. The 30-foot street is on the map of Valley Ave. blocked at Hudson and Valley in which my property is bordering. I have lived here for 38 years and people not only take over the public property they take over private property too.
The land has been surveyed by a licensed surveyor and the map is available to see.

Appeal Made For The Truckers

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:
I have a complaint or gripe, call it what you like.
It concerns truck drivers. These guys sure have hard lives. They are away from home a lot and their pay comes hard. This isn't the important thing, however.
The important thing is the way people condemn them. By people, I mean automobile drivers. These people show no courtesy for truck drivers at all. When there is an accident the first remark you hear is: Truck going too fast for road conditions or truck is out of control.
How can passing motorists know the circumstances leading to the accident? This is unfair.
I've ridden in a truck before and I know automobile drivers are rude and feel they are to be first going down the highway. I'm sure if these drivers showed as much courtesy as truck drivers do there would be fewer accidents.

Why not give these guys a break and not be so hard on them?

ATTORNEY GEN. Robert F. Kennedy in lead-off testimony on the civil rights bill last June expressed the opinion the present Supreme Court would almost certainly reverse the 1883 decision.
In the North and West, numerous states have enacted statutes along the lines of the invalidated federal act of 1875.
In fact President Kennedy in a message of June 19 pointed out that 39 states, the District of Columbia, and five cities now had laws or ordinances of that sort. By executive order last June the governors of Indiana and Kentucky forbade racial discrimination in all businesses licensed by their states.
THE 1883 DECISION is still the law of the land, and that's why the administration relied on the commerce clause rather than the 14th Amendment to back up the proposed civil rights law.
Congress, under Article 1, Section 8 of the Constitution, has the power to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states and with the Indian tribes.
On this provision — rather than the Constitution's 14th Amendment — the public accommodations title of the administration's civil rights bill is primarily based.

Space Site Rail Spur Gets 'Hot'

By Victor Riesel

It may yet take longer to cross a 4 1/2 mile brand new railroad link connecting Cape Kennedy with the Merritt Island moon port, than it will take to shuttle through space between that base and the moon itself.

Victor Riesel

The untold story of this tiny rail spur which leads to what will be the site of the world's first massive moon Vertical Assembly Building is not a science-fiction tale. It's the story of the longest railroad strike in recent history. Here is the dramatic record of the fight between the executives of one railroad—the Florida East Coast on one side, and the White House, the Pentagon, the railroad unions and the entire AFL-CIO on the other.
It began back in 1962, just about two years after the line had pulled out of a 30-year bankruptcy. First, the road was hit by the ban on trade with Cuba which had been its main source of revenue, and then by a bitter freeze which damaged the Florida fruit crops. At this point the off-train rail unions demanded a 10.3 cent-an-hour increase.

They soon had 700 employees in place of the striking 1300 signalmen, telegraphers, clerks and other off-train personnel and the original 700 on-train union workers, such as locomotive engineers, who respected the picket lines.
By January 1964 the line reported that its freight service was practically normal.

THE UNIONS put pressure on the government and late last year the government, in turn, put the heat on the FECRR. The White House under the late President Kennedy, and then under President Johnson, went into action. All federal agencies were ordered to boycott the lines. The Army Corps of Engineers, the Air Force and NASA subsequently put an embargo on military and space shipments.
The Justice Department sued in federal court to force the road to fire the 500 replacements and rehire the strikers. The National Mediation Board and a special Presidential Emergency Board directed the road to comply. Edward Ball listened, agreed to negotiate and insisted that a stenographic record be kept of all talks in which he participated—but he refused to dismiss the newly hired strikers' replacements.
At all times the road operated legally, fighting every federal and union action in the courts. Ball and his operating chief, W. L. Thornton, vice president of the FEC, in effect had instituted the anti-featherbedding work rules for which the nation's other railroads still are fighting—and over which there may be other rail strikes later this month.

ON JAN. 28, 1964 — a year and five days after the strike hit the 572-mile line which runs from Jacksonville to Miami — the road reported it was again making a profit. Just about this time the spur to the "Moonport" was completed.
On Feb. 3 engineers from NASA and the army toured the strip and said it was ready for use. This meant that the vast tonnage needed by the vertical assembly, the industrial complexes and the first launching pad for manned-moon rockets should soon start coming over the FECRR spur.
But it's a "hot" line. Anything shipped over the truck road is "hot cargo" in union jargon. The material can be hauled by the FEC over the 4 1/2 mile spur to the Merritt Island marshalling yards and the "vertical" — but what then?
Will the unionized construction workers pass the railroad unions' picket lines? Will they handle the "hot cargo" or will they break their no-strike pledge made for such defense projects? Will they succeed in forcing NASA to take the spur from the FEC with which NASA has a contract?

TO TOP ALL this, the national AFL-CIO itself is in the fight. At its national convention in New York last November it passed a resolution pledging "fullest possible support of the entire American labor movement to the strikers on the Florida East Coast Railway and urging all affiliates to do everything in their power to give them whatever assistance is possible.
If all forces make good their threats and the construction unions refuse to work at the other end of the line it will be a long time before there is a moon landing.

South Side Uniforms Discussed

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:
We were indignant when we read the letter from Mrs. Eva Simmons in the Tuesday Review criticizing our new South Side band uniforms and assuming without corroboration that the school colors had been changed.
Our band needed new uniforms desperately—the old ones were worn, shoddy and mismatched. There were no funds to order new uniforms, costing $75 each, so when the opportunity came to buy some used ones from another school at $5 each we showed a sample uniform to the band members and to the director and asked if they would like to have them.
They were enthusiastic, because the uniforms were in fine condition and the cream color with dark blue trim looked neat and snappy. Our band director commented that many of the bigger schools outfit their bands in uniforms that are not in their school colors. A band may choose its own band colors if it so wishes. The football team's uniforms are white with red numerals and no one squawked about that.
We felt it was important to outfit our band now in what we could afford rather than make them wait several years until $7,500 might be available for made-to-order uniforms.
The band members worked to raise $100, the high school fund gave $100, the PTA contributed $100 and the Citizens' Association put in $200. The band members paid to have the uniforms cleaned. It was a joint project and we were proud to have accomplished it.
The band was pleased and happy, and the school colors are still black and white. If anyone has to ask what school our band is from, we all will be glad to tell them: "South Side, where we work together to get things done."

If Mrs. Simmons wishes to start a fund for black and white uniforms, we will gladly accept her help. Any further questions can be discussed at the next citizens' meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 19.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:
I read in The Review a letter from a former band member from South Side High School who didn't like the uniforms the band now has.
Our school colors have not changed and we're proud to wear the present uniforms.
Our band has increased greatly since our new director, George Russi, has been with us. Our old uniforms were badly in need of repair and we needed additional ones. The band did not have the money to involve in trying to fix the old ones and buy new ones, too, so all new ones were purchased at a fair price.
The band members do feel right when we wear these uniforms, because now we all match.
If some of these chronic complainers would help our band, we would appreciate it very much.
As far as the football season goes, only two teams play and two bands march. If people aren't smart enough to figure out what school we're from, they have no business coming.

Why Doesn't City Pay, Reader Asks

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:
I think it is real unfair to all of the people of St. Clair Township that the city of East Liverpool is allowed to get out of paying real estate taxes on the 27 acres they own in St. Clair Township in Bloomfield, which they bought for use as a trash and garbage dump.
This land, according to an account in The Review at the time of purchase, was bought by the city for $17,500. In 1962, these lands were published in The Review as delinquent in real estate tax payments. The valuation for taxes was around $2,500. The city then appealed to the Ohio State Board of Appeals and had these lands exempted from the tax list and back taxes remitted. This can be verified at the county auditor's office.
All the other land owners have to pay real estate taxes. Even a widow on a $65-a-month pension has to pay her taxes or have her home sold from under her. Why the city would go to so much trouble to get out of paying around $80 a year I do not understand.

The way they are cracking down on city income tax evaders sounds like the pot calling the kettle black when they have a tax-free dump in our township.
I am not complaining about the dump. I am complaining about some one having special privilege. I think our St. Clair Township trustees should get on their toes and look out for the best interests of the people who elected them. The city of East Liverpool should have to pay extra in my opinion instead of going free.
MABEL EARDLEY

City solicitor Joseph W. Cooper explained that a real estate used for municipal purposes is exempt from such taxation under state law. The steps taken by the city to have the property removed from the tax duplicate are standard procedure under Ohio law, he pointed out.

More On Valley Ave. Situation

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:
In answer to the letter that appeared in the Review on Feb. 5, a statement was made that the judge didn't like the reasons they gave for wanting the road closed.
For getting timber off of the hill, I, Ed Banicki, live on Smith Dairy Rd., which property borders Valley Ave. on 407 foot of frontage. In which 274 feet is blocked by a two-stall garage and fence.
Last fall I asked the prosecuting attorney for permission for a rightaway to get into this property, mainly for post and cordwood, and he told me if I wanted it out to carry it out on my back, which I did.
And that was the only decision that was made. The judge didn't give a decision. And you call that road Valley Ave. open. That blockade is still in the middle of it.
Since the road is supposed to be wide open, the alley in which we travel is 20 foot or less. The 30-foot street is on the map of Valley Ave. blocked at Hudson and Valley in which my property is bordering. I have lived here for 38 years and people not only take over the public property they take over private property too.
The land has been surveyed by a licensed surveyor and the map is available to see.

Appeal Made For The Truckers

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:
I have a complaint or gripe, call it what you like.
It concerns truck drivers. These guys sure have hard lives. They are away from home a lot and their pay comes hard. This isn't the important thing, however.
The important thing is the way people condemn them. By people, I mean automobile drivers. These people show no courtesy for truck drivers at all. When there is an accident the first remark you hear is: Truck going too fast for road conditions or truck is out of control.
How can passing motorists know the circumstances leading to the accident? This is unfair.
I've ridden in a truck before and I know automobile drivers are rude and feel they are to be first going down the highway. I'm sure if these drivers showed as much courtesy as truck drivers do there would be fewer accidents.

Why not give these guys a break and not be so hard on them?

The New Shape Of Poverty

Key project in the Johnson administration's domestic program is elimination of poverty.
Many have been comparing this with Franklin D. Roosevelt's political masterstroke when he dedicated his administration to helping a vaguely defined one-third of the nation that was "ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-housed."
There is a substantial difference between the poverty of the '30s and the poverty of the '60s. Poverty today has a new shape.
In the '30s people who were down and out, in the sense of lacking money resources, constituted close to a majority. They included millions of "new poor"—people who were victims of the economic collapse.
Nearly all of them were capable of making a comeback; most of them did. They picked themselves up off the floor and joined the "affluent society."

ings who lack skills indispensable for successful living. They are poor not only in terms of income but in terms of satisfaction in the lives they are living. They lack not only financial means but hope and initiative. They have no prospects.
Whether President Johnson's 11-point program in his State of the Union message can help them is uncertain. Many of his points blandly assume their problems can be solved by government help. This has not been proved. It has not been proved that anyone has enough knowledge to cope with the problem that lies in this kind of poverty.
Perhaps it is the kind referred to in the Book of John: "The poor always ye have with you." There may need to be definitions of what constitutes poverty and studies to show why this most ancient of tragedies has become congenial in some areas and in some groups.
PRESIDENT JOHNSON has set the proportion of poverty at one-fifth of the population. President Roosevelt estimated it was a third.
Another president might say it was a fourth. A sociologist might define poverty more exactly and say it affected a sixth or a seventh of the population.
The Johnson administration will not eliminate it; that is certain. But in an election year it will make a wonderfully broad and flexible talking point.

How To Pacify Cyprus

The drastic move that might pacify Cyprus never has been tried.
If it ever were tried, Britain would notify all Cypriotes that it had grown weary of its historic role as policeman, mediator and whipping boy.
The British and their friends, notably the Americans, would wheel up a fleet of ships and an armada of airplanes and load up their families and possessions, lock, stock and barrel.
They would broadcast the information that they would not return en masse or in any official capacity—ever. They would let the Cypriotes know the only outsiders they would see in the future would be individuals invited to come there; that henceforth Cypriotes would be free to kill one another at will, with the odds favoring the Greek majority and running strongly against the Turkish minority.

The purpose would be to make certain no non-Cypriote soldier ever again would be killed or wounded in the hopeless task of pacifying the inhabitants of an island whose half-million-odd inhabitants have shown such an incredible aptitude for riots, disorder and wanton blood-letting that no one really believes they want to be pacified.
As long as they want to fight and are a self-determining republic, they might as well be given the opportunity to get it all out of their system.

Dear Nephew: Every year you get the glums in February, and we try to cheer you up.
We got 'em, too — the glums.
Wherever we look we see termites gnawing away at everything we want to save.
It never was plainer than it is now that we are collectively foolish and individually inadequate.

The way to get through the Glums is to remember that the world is no worse than usual — that our resistance to the endless drip-drip-drip of despair just grows weaker sometimes.
And to aggravate matters, there are more Cassandras and Gloomy Guses than there used to be, and they can't wait to bog us down in a daily gush of sour misgivings. Remember, this is the way they make their living — by ferreting out everything wrong, multiplying it by 10 and telling us we are getting the straight dope.
WE'RE GETTING the dope, all right. The trick is not to become an addict. The symptom of addiction is inability to lay off the stuff long enough to see the world as it always has been — a mixture of good and evil, black and white, sweet and sour.

So are things really all this bad? Your aunt and I, having lived somewhat longer than is decent, want to remind you that things are not as bad as professional Cassandras and Gloomy Guses make

Valentines Show Colorful Change

Weary postmen, trudging along Pennsylvania Ave. with mailbags loaded with scented envelopes, and tired teachers watching surreptitious exchanges beneath desks, ponder the origin of the custom of valentines and the messages of love.

Was it the first hints of spring and the birds preparing for the nesting season or was it Roman mythology of Venus, when this goddess of beauty and her son, Dan Cupid, started throwing his arrows dipped with love potion?

THE TRADITION has nearly been lost in antiquity, with only legends remaining to explain the fascinating origin.

The most widely accepted account dates back to the days of early Rome and the Feast of Lupercalia. Each Feb. 14 as the birds began spring mating, a festival was held in dedication to Lupercus, the god of lovers and shepherds.

As part of the celebration, Roman maidens deposited their names in a giant urn in the public square. Each young man drew a "card" and then spent the year courting the girl whose name he drew. Some of the maidens tried to attract attention to their cards by lavishly decorating them, thereby making early fore-runners of valentines.

Another popular legend tells of the Roman priest, St. Valentine, who was beheaded by the Emperor Claudius for assisting Christian martyrs. While awaiting his execution, the legend says he fell in love with the blind daughter of the jailer and was able to restore her sight through his deep faith. On the evening before his execution he wrote a farewell message to her which he signed "From your Valentine." He was beheaded on Feb. 14, 270 A. D., the eve of the Feast of Lupercalia.

It was not many years after the death of Valentine that Christianity spread throughout the Roman Empire and the pagan festivals were transformed into Christian feasts, thus the Feast of Lupercalia became associated with St. Valentine.

George Woollands, former dramatic critic for the Manchester Guardian and Westminster Gazette, and now associated with Hallmark Cards in Great Britain, learned that it was not until the later 18th century that the custom of sending anonymous cards became prevalent.

THE FIRST known printed valentine in England was done in copper plate about 1800-1810. The personal touch was often maintained by leaving the card blank for the sender to write his own message.

Woollands reports Victorian era writers mention the spread of grotesque cards, often offensive and bitter, what had been the message of Dan Cupid, became a shaft of satire and spite. During the period of the wars, when the tense emotions soared, the customs of valentines seemed to help make life more sweet.

The history of valentines in America began during the middle of the 18th century when verses were copied from a book that appeared in 1797 called "The Young Man's Valentine Writer."

This book contained verses suitable for all trades and professions, lawyers, candlemakers, weavers, sailors and merchants, as well as those for "young ladies" and "gentlemen."

An entirely different type of valentine that came into vogue, simultaneously with the sentimental card, was the comic. It was not definitely known when the first of these "caricatures" was printed, but by the end of the 19th century, they were in popular demand.

As these comic valentines were flooding the market, the fancy, frosted valentines were being made for the more sentimental. Then from Germany, at the turn of the century, came a series of ingenious contrivances in the form of mechanical valentines. These "pull-outs" opened and stood up to reveal fascinating scenes on a three-dimensional scale.

But sentimental or comic, complimentary or cruel, plain or fancy, valentines are here to stay.

Round 'n Round It Goes

Same Valentine Exchanged For 35 Years

By ROSE NUZZO

Roses are red,
Violets are blue,
It's now my turn
To send it to you!

This sums up in a poetic nutshell the unusual "life" of a Valentine which has been making the rounds for the last 35 years.

Launched on its merry way as a gag, it again will find itself in the mail next week during the annual observance of St. Valentine's Day.

The unique card has been traveling back and forth over the years between the homes of two former Midland High School students — Nick Tonti, who now resides in Midland View, and Steve Prodonovich, who makes his home on Mason St. here.

Considering the wear and tear it has experienced, the Valentine remains in good shape with the exception of the originally longer neck which has been forced to undergo "surgery".

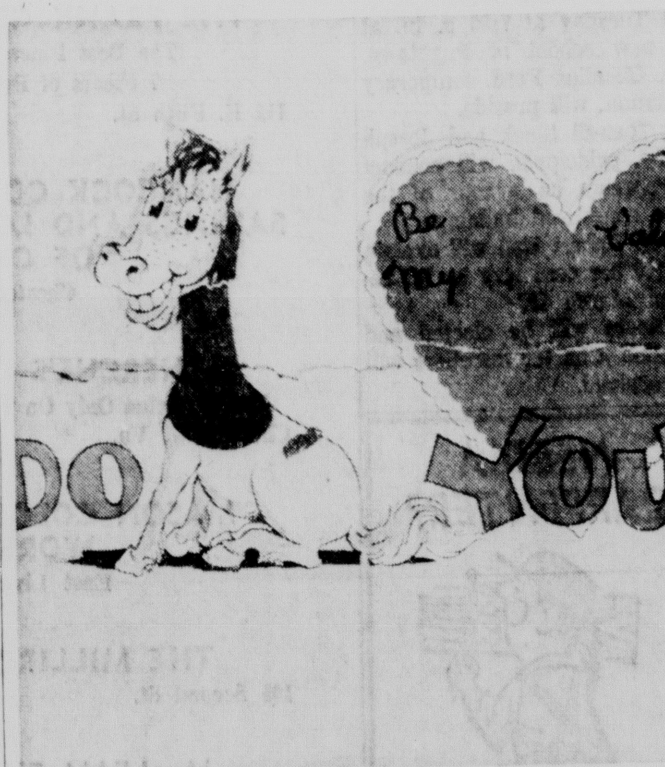

The valentine message reads:

"Be my valentine —
Some flowers is red and some is blue —
HORSES NECK! DO YOU?"

Inseparable during their younger days, the two men never dreamed that they would be mailing the same Valentine yearly. Here's how it all started.

Prodonovich decided to mail a humorous valentine, unsigned, to his "Buddy" 35 years ago. Upon receiving it, Tonti guessed who the sender was, kept the Valentine and the following year mailed it to Prodonovich. He, in turn, waited another 12 months to roll by and back in the mailbox went the Valentine, which sports a new envelope each year.

The annual "friendship" gesture has now become a sentimental favorite of the two men. How long will it continue? It's anyone's guess. One thing is for certain, "the good old days" are recalled yearly by the "sender" and the "receiver".

Tonti, father of three children, is employed at the Mid-

Take Them, Please

When February's fourteenth day,
Approaches bright-reality,
Each beau I know becomes aglow,
Intent on sentimentality.

The girls are coy when near their boy,
The pulse's pace is quickened,
And when THE GIFT arrives amid joy,
The plot is gaily thickened.

So here are some pieces of golden chain,
That linked us in the past,
A book of poems (with a tear stain?)
And a lock of hair in glass.

Ceramic Theater ticket stubs,
A murky photograph,
A glass—East Liverpool Country Club's,
And a badly chipped carafe.

A crumbling rose, some very stale cake,
A music box erratic,
Please take these for St. Valentine's sake!
For I've just cleaned my attic . . .

The Law

In court, all lawyers ask all witnesses except expert witnesses to report their observations, not opinions. It is for the judge and the jury, not the fact witnesses, to make inferences as to guilt or liability from the facts.

On the other hand, only "experts" can give the court their opinions. You might ask however, "Aren't most people expert in some things?" Most people are qualified to give opinions on such everyday things as speed, time, sound and the like.

Sometimes where impressions are hard to describe, a witness may have to talk in terms of opinions about such things as the force of a blow, distance of a sound, the amount of light, the degree of cold or heat, weight, size, health, temper, fear and the like.

We can express the opinion that Smith "looks like the man" who did a crime, or that his footfalls or his voice were those of Smith. Courts will admit such evidence. So, too, one can testify about his friends' sanity or handwriting and sometimes your own motives.

Most often, however, the court must rely on certain skilled persons, like physicians or engineers, for "expert opinions" especially in complex or technical cases. Experts may give opinions on the "ultimate" fact which the jury itself must decide (the extent of injuries, who is the father, what caused the explosion, etc.).

Do the experts here invade the jury's province?

As a rule, no. Before a court will let the expert testify he must show his special knowledge, say, in science, art, trade. Even so, the judge and jury decide issues of the trial, not the experts alone.

(This article is based upon the Law of Ohio. It is not intended to advise anyone on a specific problem. No person should ever attempt to apply or interpret any law without the advice of a lawyer.)

Swiss steak may be baked in the oven as well as simmered on the top of the range. For baking, brown the floured meat first, then add the rest of the ingredients and cover before placing in a moderate oven until the steak is tender.

More Light Shed On Gas Lamp Topic

By CHARLES CRONIN

The recent story about Robert Risinger's old gaslight has turned up two more of the lamps, and at least one was made in the downtown factory of the three Risinger Brothers that flourished for a time at the turn of the century.

Mrs. Laura Hickman of Bell School Rd. says the globe of her gaslight is also marked, "The Risinger Colonial", trade name of the lamps that were produced here by Frank, Homer and Harry Risinger.

It was given to her late husband years ago by former Fire Chief Tom Bryan, who thought it might be useful to the Hickmans because there is a natural gas well on their property.

Although the gas well still functions, the gaslight remains discarded in the basement, Mrs. Hickman advises. She also recalls owning a second gaslight, but its globe has been broken.

"It looks just the same as the gaslight owned by Mr. Risinger, with the same name and everything," Mrs. Hickman says.

While Mrs. Hickman and Risinger own two of the last surviving indoor gaslights made here, Dr. J. D. Bennett of St. Clair Ave. owns an outside gaslight. He isn't sure where it was produced, but advises that it originally hung in a garage here years ago.

Another owner of antique lights is Ed Maloney, operator of the World Book & Bible House on Market St.

Maloney of 411 Vine St. owns two oil lamps that were installed in a pioneer grocery store which opened for business in February 1888 in the West End.

The store was started by Frank L. Fisher, and later sold to Maloney, who was its owner for 35 years. It's still called Maloney's and is located on W. 8th St.

Maloney says the oil lamps are in good condition and could be described as antiques. They are equipped with three-inch in diameter round wicks. One was converted into an electrical lamp.

A couple of paragraphs took issue with a paragraph of last Saturday's story that explained the Risinger Brothers' factory occupied the second and third floors of the Brookes Building, present location of Bloor's Pharmacy, 5th and Market Sts.

They felt that the story should have pinpointed the location of the factory as the Brookes Building, which houses among other business the Robbins & Sant clothing store across the street.

But Risinger points out that both corner buildings were once owned by Jason Brookes Sr., and his office was on the second floor of the building housing the pharmacy at one time.

His son had his law offices in the other building until his death a few years ago.

Presently, only the building at the west corner of 5th and Market Sts. is known as the Brookes Building.

Today In History

Today is Saturday, Feb. 8, 1964. There are 327 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1250, the Crusaders, led by King Louis XI, were defeated in the Battle of Mansura, Egypt. King Louis was captured.

On this date: In 1793, Congress set the salary of the president of the United States at $25,000 a year. In 1837, Richard Mentor Johnson became the first vice president elected by the Senate since no candidate received a majority of the electoral votes.

In 1910, the Boy Scouts of America was incorporated.

In 1949, the Communist government of Hungary sentenced Josef Cardinal Mindszenty to life imprisonment.

Ten years ago—Former Democratic Rep. Joseph Casey of Massachusetts and international shipping figure Aristotle Onassis were among eight persons indicted in Washington on charges of conspiring to defraud the U.S. government.

Five years ago—The director of the Office of Strategic Services during World War II, Maj. Gen. William (Wild Bill) Donovan, died in Washington at the age of 76.

She Was Told To Write—And She Did

By CLARA HALL

A career in nursing was indirectly responsible for channeling a local woman's talent into the field of writing.

Mrs. Chleo Deshler Goodman of Pennsylvania Ave., East End, explains that her first effort at writing involved a "case history report" of a rare disease that came to the attention of the City hospital staff when she was a student nurse. She prepared the report at the request of the late Miss Mary Edna Boyd, then director of nursing, for a national medical journal.

The next writing request (Mrs. Goodman says it sounded more like a command) came when she was about to graduate from nurses' training. She was to write the class poem. No amount of argument seemed to convince Miss Boyd that Chleo knew nothing whatsoever of poetry, or writing either, for that matter.

FOR TWO WEEKS her life was a nightmare as she tried to put together something that could pass for verse. By the time she finished the poem, she detested it so much she didn't even bother to keep a copy. Mrs. Goodman, then decided her love for poetry was dead. But a few months passed and a feeling began to steal over her that surely if she had been able to do it once she might again. It wasn't long until she realized she was "hooked" and her love for poetry was here to stay.

Her first poem was published in November 1941 by the Pottery Herald and was entitled "An Echo Of Time". The paper continued to publish her work, giving her the courage to submit to The Ohio Nurses Review, an anthology being compiled by Nicholas Lloyd Ingram of Chicago, and "Songs of the Nightingale" by Harbinger House. It was the latter that won for her the first book award for a poem entitled "Autumn Traveler".

About this time, Chleo felt an urge to try her hand at newspaper writing, so she looked up Ernie Fisk, then editor of The Review. After some hesitation and a great deal of apprehension, he allowed her to seek her first interview and submit a story. It concerned Dr. William J. Horger, who had been serving with the medical unit in the South Pacific, but was being returned to the States because of an injury. For months she continued to write features of returning service people.

FROM THE VERY first, she thoroughly enjoyed feature writing. With her interest in history, she found herself more and more doing historical articles. "Actually, I think it is the pleasure I derive from doing the research, rather than the writing of the article itself, that keeps me pegging away at this field," she says.

By now, some of Mrs. Goodman's poems were beginning to be picked up by a few of the national magazines, as reprints from the smaller issues. Then, too, she continued to write poetry — by request — for various churches, lodges and clubs

Occasionally, she tried to see what she could do with an editorial, and one of them, "A Priceless Privilege", was published by The Review. This earned for her what she considers her greatest bit of success in writing, "The George Washington Honor Medal" awarded by the Freedom's Foundation of Valley Forge "for outstanding achievement in bringing about a better understanding of the American way of life".

ALTHOUGH SHE says she is not superstitious, Chleo says she felt this was the turning point of her life in the field of writing. Suddenly it seemed people began to look with more favor upon what she had written.

Her friends urged her to compile a book of her verse. It was published by the Big Mountain Press at Denver, under the title "The Hourglass".

Not caring much for fiction, she decided to try at least once, she wrote a story dealing with drug addiction "No Tears For Tomorrow" and sold it to the St. Anthony Messenger.

What she considers her best and also the hardest thing she has ever tried to write is a manuscript undertaken while confined to bed by illness for three months. It is the "Easter Story", telling of the entire events of Holy Week, written in rhymed verse. She later read this for about 60 organizations.

Mrs. Chleo Deshler Goodman is all set with her tape recorder to pour forth poetry or prose. Her writing room would be the envy of even a professional writer in light of the marvelous filing system which she has compiled. Along with the routine tools of her trade—the typewriter and film reader—she has a good reference library. On the cabinet is a personal autograph of Ernie Pyle, which she cherishes.

In 1960, she wrote the companion piece to it "A King Is Born" which was copyrighted. There is one section that remains to be completed, the three-year period of Christ's ministry. But because the work is tedious and difficult she finds herself shying away from it far too often.

Just for kicks once in a while, she'll write a humorous monologue, but admits witty dialogue just isn't "her cup of tea".

A great many inspirations seem to come in the middle of the night when the house is quiet and her mind is free from the cares of the day. She keeps a paper and pencil close at hand on the night table, or she slips down the hall to her study.

A HUMOROUS incident occurred when she was visiting with relatives out of town and at 2 o'clock in the morning had an idea for a poem, "Be Still and Know That I Am God". The only writing material she could find was a cleansing tissue and eyebrow pencil from the bathroom. But it was enough to hold the idea until morning.

This turned out to be one of her most acceptable poems and was even requested by a woman in Baltimore to be used as lyrics for a song.

Chleo was born in Marietta, Ohio, and moved to this vicinity when she was in the third grade. Following graduation from high school and City Hospital School of Nursing, she did private duty for several years.

She is married to Charles E. Goodman, owner of and operator of Goodman Auto Body in East End. She has a daughter, Carol, who is a freshman at Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky.

Mrs. Goodman's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Deshler, 1708 Pennsylvania Ave. She has a sister, Mrs. Kenneth Brown of Arkansas City, Kan.

A member of the Boyce Methodist Church, she belongs to the Homebuilder's Class, the official board and serves as church historian.

She is affiliated with Crystal Chapter 18, Order of Eastern Star, the Bible Literary Club and the Colloquium Study Club. She serves on the Carnegie Library Board of Trustees and for the last 10 years was Columbian County chairman of the Ohioana Library Association of Columbus.

CHLEO IS A member and past president of the City Hospital Nurses Alumnae Association. She aided in organization of the International Order of Job's Daughters, Bethel 61.

In February 1946 she received an award of merit from the American Red Cross for "meritorious personal service" performed during World War II.

As for her plans for the future — only one, for most of her writing these days seems to take on the form of letters to Carol at school, and the book-keeping of her husband's business.

However, she definitely wants to finish her narration of the life of Christ, and to see it in one bound volume. She said other writing will be done as a hobby, and will never come ahead of her family and church.

Although I greatly admire her writing talent and have kept copies of some of her work, what I remember most about Chleo Deshler Goodman as a former neighbor, were her bits of advice, for nothing beats living next door to a nurse when your children are small.

Lions Roar On!

Sight-Saving Club's No. 1 Project

There's an old joke about various groups owning and running the town, which ends with the line, "And the Lions enjoy it." The club does have a lot of fun, but it is underscored by the seriousness of raising funds to carry out its charitable activities, primarily sight-saving and nurses' training.

Sight-saving was one of the primary objectives when the club was organized 39 years ago, and it remains as its chief endeavor. Throughout the years the club has spent many thousands of dollars in providing eye examinations, operations and glasses, mostly for needy youngsters.

NO RECORD has been maintained of the number of glasses purchased, but there has been a steady increase in the last three years, with a total purchase of 131 pair at a cost of $2,662.

Other sight-saving expenses—repair of glasses, operations and donations to Ohio Eye Research and Pilot Dog, Inc., which furnishes seeing-eye dogs for the blind—come to $856, bringing the total amount spent on sight-saving to $3,518.

The club has spent another $1,056 on other charities in the last three years, mostly to pay tuition costs for three girls enrolled in the City Hospital School of Nursing.

The Lions were the first city organization to sponsor a scholarship for student nurses. By granting a new scholarship each year, three girls are enabled to be in school.

The club finances its charities through the sale of brooms, light bulbs and its annual minstrel show featuring local talent which it inaugurated several years ago. This year's show will be held March 21 at Westgate.

The charitable activities are not its only projects — it launched the "Dollars for Debbie" drive to aid an ailing youngster several years ago and sponsored and erected a retaining wall on Broadway in front of the Post Office along with the planting of shrubbery.

For many years, the Lions also have awarded one of the major prizes in the annual dahlia show held each fall.

THE CLUB now has 64 members, with John T. Smith as president, Richard Martin, first vice president; Donald T. Duke, second vice president; Edward Custer, third vice president; Edgar A. Shingler, secretary, and Charles Haugh, treasurer.

Two of its members have served as district governors. The late Harry Brokaw was the first and George F. McCullough completed his term last June.

The service club will hold its annual Charter Night next Saturday night at the Travelers Hotel.

But it already is looking ahead to next year when its 40th anniversary will be held with hopes that the Lions International president will be a guest.

The club was founded Sept. 17, 1924, with Atty. W. S. Foulks as the first president. The only charter member still active is Dr. John A. Fraser.

The 27th Lions organization to be organized in Ohio, the club received its charter Feb. 23, 1925, at a dinner dance at Larkins' annex on Market St.

And What Of Setsuko?

"What has happened to Setsuko Hosokawa?"

This question has come up every now and then since The Review presented on its Feature Pages several weeks ago an appeal by the 16-year-old Japanese girl for a sponsor in America — preferably in East Liverpool — so she might continue her education.

While quite a bit of red tape remains to be untangled, things look fairly bright for Setsuko to realize her dream of coming to this country, learning our customs and becoming a student in our educational system.

An East Liverpool family has enthusiastically offered to sponsor the young Japanese and already has communicated with her in an effort to become acquainted — though only by mail for the present.

Right now, Setsuko is busy taking steps to initiate an application for a student's visa at the U.S. consulate in Kobe-Osaka in her native Japan. Also involved is the filling out of an application form by the school which she will attend once she arrives here. This application, in turn, must be sent back to Setsuko and then presented at the consulate.

This action is being delayed momentarily pending another letter from Setsuko outlining in detail the schooling she already has had so it may be fitted in as well as possible with our educational requirements.

Congressman Wayne L. Hays is among those co-operating in the effort to make Setsuko's hopes become a reality. Once the application for admission is in proper order, he has promised to contact the State Department and do everything possible to expedite matters.

So, unless an unforeseen snag develops, it looks like East Liverpool will become the home in the not too distant future of a young Japanese girl anxious to plunge into the American way of life.

Displaying the hair-dos are Verna Copstick, Dolly Linkous, Cassie Thresher, Juanita Bartlett, Jean Bailey and Freda Adkins.

In the words of the beauticians themselves, "The new styles represent several feminine moods. Some are smooth, some are ruffled, but all are soft and all are small and graceful."

"Daytime coiffures are free and easy, of elegant simplicity. After dark coiffures tend toward a romantic mood that can be transformed easily into a young and natural look for daytime."

"The secret of the new styles is the superb hair shaping and a soft, professional permanent wave. And you have the easy to manage softness in the hair that swings and moves."

The words are those of the beauticians. And after another look at the group above, who can disagree!

Odd Facts

The question as to whether one can travel faster on roller skates or on ice skates depends mainly on the distance traveled. For fairly short distances, up to one mile, ice skates are faster. For longer distances, such as two miles or five miles, roller skates are faster because they require less stamina to maintain speed.

In 1778, John Parke Curtis, stepson of George Washington, bought 1,100 acres along the Potomac River. He named the estate "Arlington" after an ancestral home in Virginia's Northampton County.

Honest And Accurate

LONDON, Ky. (AP) — Jim Barnett was stopped by a man who asked: "Are you the son of Mack Barnett?"

Getting an affirmative answer, the man continued: "In 1928, I purchased a wagon bed iron from your father and never paid him. Now he's dead and I'm able to pay the $3.20."

He handed over the money and left.

Later, Jim looked over old records of Barnett Brothers and found the debt.

Florida Zoo Keepers Could Use Sympathy

MIAMI (AP) — If you have a little sympathy to spare, you can extend it to zoo keepers in hurricane country.

The last time a hurricane threatened Miami, keepers at the Dade County Zoo — located near the beach on an off-shore island — had this to do:

Transfer all the snakes and other reptiles from cages to bags.

Catch all the water birds — ducks, swans, etc. — and put them in the snake cages.

Lug all the mammoth tortoises into the zoo rest rooms.

Remove antlers from the deer and crate them.

Give tranquilizers to the ostriches so they could be shifted to shelter without danger to the keepers.

After all that, the hurricane veered away and the precautions turned out to be unnecessary.

She Was Told To Write—And She Did

By CLARA HALL

A career in nursing was indirectly responsible for channeling a local woman's talent into the field of writing.

Mrs. Chleo Deshler Goodman of Pennsylvania Ave., East End, explains that her first effort at writing involved a "case history report" of a rare disease that came to the attention of the City hospital staff when she was a student nurse. She prepared the report at the request of the late Miss Mary Edna Boyd, then director of nursing, for a national medical journal.

The next writing request (Mrs. Goodman says it sounded more like a command) came when she was about to graduate from nurses' training. She was to write the class poem. No amount of argument seemed to convince Miss Boyd that Chleo knew nothing whatsoever of poetry, or writing either, for that matter.

FOR TWO WEEKS her life was a nightmare as she tried to put together something that could pass for verse. By the time she finished the poem, she detested it so much she didn't even bother to keep a copy. Mrs. Goodman, then decided her love for poetry was dead. But a few months passed and a feeling began to steal over her that surely if she had been able to do it once she might again. It wasn't long until she realized she was "hooked" and her love for poetry was here to stay.

Her first poem was published in November 1941 by the Pottery Herald and was entitled "An Echo Of Time". The paper continued to publish her work, giving her the courage to submit to The Ohio Nurses Review, an anthology being compiled by Nicholas Lloyd Ingram of Chicago, and "Songs of the Nightingale" by Harbinger House. It was the latter that won for her the first book award for a poem entitled "Autumn Traveler".

About this time, Chleo felt an urge to try her hand at newspaper writing, so she looked up Ernie Fisk, then editor of The Review. After some hesitation and a great deal of apprehension, he allowed her to seek her first interview and submit a story. It concerned Dr. William J. Horger, who had been serving with the medical unit in the South Pacific, but was being returned to the States because of an injury. For months she continued to write features of returning service people.

FROM THE VERY first, she thoroughly enjoyed feature writing. With her interest in history, she found herself more and more doing historical articles. "Actually, I think it is the pleasure I derive from doing the research, rather than the writing of the article itself, that keeps me pegging away at this field," she says.

By now, some of Mrs. Goodman's poems were beginning to be picked up by a few of the national magazines, as reprints from the smaller issues. Then, too, she continued to write poetry — by request — for various churches, lodges and clubs has ever tried to write is a manuscript undertaken while confined to bed by illness for three months. It is the "The Easter Story", telling of the entire events of Holy Week, written in rhymed verse. She later read this for about 60 organizations.

Mrs. Chleo Deshler Goodman is all set with her tape recorder to pour forth poetry or prose. Her writing room would be the envy of even a professional writer in light of the marvelous filing system which she has compiled. Along with the routine tools of her trade—the typewriter and film reader—she has a good reference library. On the cabinet is a personal autograph of Ernie Pyle, which she cherishes.

In 1960, she wrote the companion piece to it "A King Is Born" which was copyrighted. There is one section that remains to be completed, the three-year period of Christ's ministry. But because the work is tedious and difficult she finds herself shying away from it far too often.

ALTHOUGH SHE says she is not superstitious, Chleo says she felt this was the turning point of her life in the field of writing. Suddenly it seemed people began to look with more favor upon what she had written.

Her friends urged her to compile a book of her verse. It was published by the Big Mountain Press at Denver, under the title "The Hourglass".

Not caring much for fiction, she decided to try at least once, she wrote a story dealing with drug addiction "No Tears For Tomorrow" and sold it to the St. Anthony Messenger.

Potters Edge Toronto, 69-65, For Third Straight Win

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor
The East Liverpool Potters have put together a three-game winning streak and can even their season record at 8-8 with a victory over an invading Niles five tonight at Memorial Auditorium. Niles has a 5-10 record.
Coach Jim Harris saw his squad wake up in the second half Friday night at Toronto to pull out a 69-65 victory over the Red Knights.
East Liverpool trailed by as much as eight points at one time, but flashed a red-hot fourth quarter in making 9 of 15 shots.

McComas Sparks Attack With 24; Niles Invades MA Tonight

Thanks to the fine shooting of Frank McComas and the all-around work of Bob Forzano the Potters put their seventh victory in the books.
Following the contest, Harris said, "McComas and Forzano broke their backs. McComas was hitting good tonight and Forzano stuck close to Coulter."
McComas shot very well. The 6-foot senior, who played one of his outstanding games last night, poured in 24 points after being held to one marker in the first quarter.
Employing a deadly jump shot, McComas hit on 11 of 16, a good average in anybody's league. He didn't take a shot in the first quarter, but scored eight points in the second, led a third-period charge with eight more, then tallied seven in the final eight minutes.
Forzano was assigned to Chip Coulter, Toronto's scoring ace and didn't allow him to get too many good shots away. Coulter did wind up with 22 points, however, only a point off his 23-point average. He took 30 shots and made 10.
Three other Potter starters hit the double figures, with Forzano collecting 15, Randy Stover 14 and Bob Maltarich 11.
Maltarich and Stover scored six points each in the last eight minutes when the Potters went into the lead.
Toronto held the upper hand for more than three quarters, taking a 13-9 first quarter lead and 31-25 at halftime. With McComas hitting four of five shots in the third period, East Liverpool pulled within two points, 48-46, at the end of the quarter.
McComas tied it at 48-48 with 7:17 left in the game and Forzano's long jump shot put ELHS in front to stay at 50-48 with 6:52 showing on the clock.
Stover came through with a three-point play to advance the count to 53-48, then Maltarich connected and the Potters assumed a seven-point spread.
Toronto tried in vain to get back in the contest towards the closing minutes, but time ran out.
East Liverpool's shooting picked up with a 44 per cent mark on 27 of 61 attempts. Toronto shot 35 per cent, hitting 27 of 77.
With both squads tied in field goals, the Potters connected on 15 of 29 foul attempts and Toronto sank 11 of 17.
The opening half was a poor one for the Potters, who were outrebounded and outplayed for the first 16 minutes.

Coach John Pape's Beavers rallied from eight points behind to gain a 48-48 tie with two minutes remaining, and went on to win as Deering poured in 16 points in the final frame on the Beaver Local court.

Potters Edge Toronto, 69-65, For Third Straight Win

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

The East Liverpool Potters have put together a three-game winning streak and can even their season record at 8-8 with a victory over an invading Niles five tonight at Memorial Auditorium. Niles has a 5-10 record.

Coach Jim Harris saw his squad wake up in the second half Friday night at Toronto to pull out a 69-65 victory over the Red Knights.

East Liverpool trailed by as much as eight points at one time, but flashed a red-hot fourth quarter in making 9 of 15 shots.

Thanks to the fine shooting of Frank McComas and the all-around work of Bob Forzano the Potters put their seventh victory in the books.

Following the contest, Harris said, "McComas and Forzano broke their backs. McComas was hitting good to night and Forzano stuck close to Coulter."

McComas shot very well. The 6-foot senior, who played one of his outstanding games last night, poured in 24 points after being held to one marker in the first quarter.

Employing a deadly jump shot, McComas hit on 11 of 16, a good average in anybody's league. He didn't take a shot in the first quarter, but scored eight points in the second, led a third - period charge with eight more, then tallied seven in the final eight minutes.

Forzano was assigned to Chip Coulter, Toronto's scoring ace and didn't allow him to get too many good shots away. Coulter did wind up with 22 points, however, only a point off his 23 - point average. He took 30 shots and made 10.

Three other Potter starters hit the double figures, with Forzano collecting 15, Randy Stover 14 and Bob Maltarich 11.

Maltarich and Stover scored six points each in the last eight minutes when the Potters went into the lead.

Toronto held the upper hand for more than three quarters, taking a 13-9 first quarter lead and 31-25 at halftime. With McComas hitting four of five shots in the third period, East Liverpool pulled within two points, 48-46, at the end of the quarter.

McComas tied it at 48-48 with 7:17 left in the game and Forzano's long jump shot put ELHS in front to stay at 50-48 with 6:52 showing on the clock.

Stover came through with a three - point play to advance the count to 53-48, then Maltarich connected and the Potters assumed a seven-point spread.

Toronto tried in vain to get back in the contest towards the closing minutes, but time ran out.

East Liverpool's shooting picked up with a 44 per cent mark on 27 of 61 attempts. Toronto shot 35 per cent, hitting 27 of 77.

With both squads tied in field goals, the Potters connected on 15 of 29 foul attempts and Toronto sank 11 of 17.

The opening half was a poor one for the Potters, who were outscored and outplayed for the first 16 minutes.

The Blue and White didn't put on a serious bid until midway through the third quarter.

Behind Coulter, who now has 347 points for the season, was Bob Ulrich with 15 and Paul Saxton, who hooped 12 points and did the lion's share of the rebounding for Coach Paul Kalivoda's club.

Southern Local Falls, 56-48 Deering's 30 Sets School Mark In Beaver Local Win

Ron Deering, 6-2 senior, established a new school record with 30 points in leading Beaver Local past arch-rival Southern Local, 56-48, as the Beavers staged a stirring fourth quarter comeback Friday night.

Coach John Pape's Beavers rallied from eight points behind to gain a 48-48 tie with two minutes remaining, and went on to win as Deering poured in 16 points in the final frame on the Beaver Local court.

THE VICTORY was the second in 15 games for the Beavers, who last won Jan. 11 over Jefferson Union.

Deering tallied 30 points on 13 goals and four-of-four foul shots to erase the former standard of 29 set in 1959 by Jay Grubb. Sixteen came in the torrid fourth quarter on seven goals and a pair of fouls.

SOUTHERN Local led most of the way, but found itself in a precarious situation with minutes left when the Beavers rallied to tie at 48-48. Jim McLaughlin, 5-8 senior, smallest player for the Red and White, hit two free throws with 40 seconds left to give the Beavers a six-point lead, 54-48, and it was all over for the Indians.

THE LOSS evened Southern's record at 8-8 under Coach Al Girona. Larry Smith turned in another fine game for the Indians with a 22-point effort, while Tommy McGuire had 12.

The Beavers shot 33 per cent in making 21 of 63 shots. Southern hit 31 per cent on 18 of 59 shots.

In the preliminary, the Southern Local Reserves beat Beaver Local, 40-31.

Winter Games End Sunday

Russians Win Olympics

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Every third time a gold medal was passed out at the ninth Winter Olympic Games, it went to a Russian.

It was a tremendous performance that brought the Soviet Union the unofficial team title in these games that formally end Sunday.

It also showed increasing prowess in winter sports for Russia, a relative newcomer to the Winter Olympics. The Russians did not win a gold medal in the Winter Games until 1956. Then they won six. They took seven more at Squaw Valley in 1960.

They captured their 10th gold medal here Friday, making it impossible for any other country to overtake them in the medal count in the remaining competitions.

The latest Soviet gold came in the ladies' 15-kilometer cross-country ski relay. Claudia Boyarskikh, who previously had won the ladies 5-kilometer and 10-kilometer races, led the Russian relay team to victory, winning her third gold medal.

Other members of the Russian relay team were Alevtina Kolchina and Eudokia Mekshilo. Their time was 59:20.2.

In other gold medal events Friday:

Canada's first top award came in a surprising victory in the four-man bobsled competition by Vic Emery's crew.

Their time of 4:14.46 left Austria's Erwin Thaler in second place and Italy's favored Eugenio Monti in third place—and talking about retiring. Thaler's total time for the four runs was 4:15.48. Monti's was 4:15.89.

Jonny Nilsson of Sweden triumphed in the men's 10,000-meter speed skating, with a time of 15:50.1. Two Norwegians trailed, Fred Anton Maier in 16:06.0 and Knut Johannefren in 16:06.3. It was revenge for Nilsson and Sweden. Johannesen two days ago led a Norwegian sweep of the 5,000-meter race.

Russia's 10th gold medal also tied the Winter Olympics gold count between it and the United States at 23 each. The United States won its medals over the past 40 years, taking only one here.

Norway still is the all-time Winter Olympics gold medal winner—with 37—including two in these games.

The defeat leaves South Side with an 8-9 record overall, and 4-4 in Section 15-B play.

Pirates Add Few Players But Feels Team Will Improve In 1964

By DANNY MURTAUGH
PITTSBURGH PIRATES
WOODLYN, Pa. (AP) In the winter every manager considers his team a pennant contender. Although our club finished eighth last year, I feel the nucleus of a pennant winner is in the personnel.

Even though we have added a few players to our roster of last year, I feel that our club will be improved. The young players we broke in last year have benefited by the one year's experience playing in the major leagues.

We broke in three new infielders—Bob Bailey at third, Dick Clendenon at first and Donn Schofield at shortstop. Although Schofield had many years experience as a utility man, last year was his first as a regular. Our infield made too many mistakes for us to win consistently. Now, after playing as a unit for a year, I feel our mistakes will be cut to a minimum. As a result, we should win more games.

We also had to break in a young fellow—Will Stargell—in the outfield. This boy is a future star. He is capable of hitting 30 home runs a year.

We also tried to break in Joe Pagliaroni as our first string catcher because we feel that Smoky Burgess is approaching the age where we can derive the most from him by using him as a pinch hitter and occasional catcher.

Our principle problem last year was the lack of a consistent power hitter plus the fact we made too many mistakes in close ball games. The added experience will stop us from making these costly errors. We also acquired some right-handed power in the acquisition of Gene Freeze. I plan to play both Freeze and Bailey in the outfield this spring. If we can get both these right-handed bats into the line-up at the same time, it will strengthen our attack against left-handed pitching.

Several of our new players must be considered in our 1964 plans. One is Gene Alley, an infielder who can play second, short and third and field each position in above-major league style.

Another newcomer who might be ready is a young pitcher named Steve Blass. He pitched better than 500 at Columbus.

Reports from Columbus indicate that Rex Johnson must be seriously considered for an outfield job. He was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers but chose baseball instead of football.

I feel the Pirates will have a lot to say about the pennant race. We have one of the finest pitching staffs in the league. Our defense should be better and our hitting will improve. Our bench will be strong. I have Jerry Lynch and Burgess as my left-handed pinch hitters in the late innings. From the right side, I can send up Ted Savage, Freeze and Alley.

The Los Angeles Club is the team to beat. The Cards, Braves and Giants also will be tough.

St. Louis Pilot Enthusiastic

Cards To Be Big Factor In NL Race, Keane Says

By JOHNNY KEANE
Manager, St. Louis Cardinals
HOUSTON (AP) — We were disappointed last season after making a run at Los Angeles but at the same time we were not dissatisfied with our over-all showing in 1963.

I sometimes am guilty of over-enthusiasm but never of exaggeration and I am looking forward to the coming season with enthusiasm. I'm convinced the Cards will be a big factor in the National League pennant race. Hardly anyone expected us to do as well as we did last year. I'm proud of the team which won 19 of 20 in one stretch in September.

We gave the Dodgers a good run for it. Walter Alston's team won, ultimately, but it took a great team to beat us as the World Series proved.

We are going into 1964 more solid than we went into the '63 race although I would like to have another right-handed hitting outfielder.

One big reason is the development of Tim McCarver into one of the best catchers in the big leagues. Last spring catching was one of our big problems and Tim was still a question mark. Now he's established. We acquired Jim Coker, a right-handed hitting catcher to back up McCarver. We had no right-handed hitting catcher at all last season.

All our infield positions are fixed. Bill White at first, Julian Javier at second, Dick Groat at short and Ken Boyer at third made up the starting infield for the National League in last year's All-Star game. I don't see how you can do better than that. The infield, of course, was the strong part of our club.

Dal Maxvill is a very capable utility infielder and will be helped by Jerry Buchek, who had a fine year playing shortstop at Atlanta.

The pitching, with Bob Gibson, Ernie Broglio, Curt Simmons, Ray Sadecki and now Roger Craig, who I think is a terrific plus, should be equal to any in the league, especially in depth. All are established.

The outfield is somewhat of a question but the big spot in center field couldn't be improved upon. Curt Flood answers all the questions there. Stan Musial is gone and we'll miss him in many ways. Musial's retirement, however, gives more of a chance to our younger players.

Charley James figures to earn one of the regular outfield spots. The other spot is wide open with Doug Clemens, Gary Kolb, Mike Shannon and Johnny Lewis all capable and young.

"It's for me—I'm four hours late for dinner."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—Have you any ideas on remedying a leaking fountain pen?

A. You can often do the trick by covering the threaded grooves on the barrel of the pen with colorless fingernail polish, allowing this to dry before replacing the cap.

Q.—How can I remove rubber heel marks from floors?

A. By wiping the spots with kerosene, turpentine, mineral spirits, or floor oil.

Q.—How can I make "skid-proof" a pair of bookends that are forever slipping and sliding about?

A. Glue a wide rubber band or a piece of auto inner tube on the bottom of each book-end, and your troubles should be at an end.

Q.—How can I make the job of cutting glass straighter and easier?

A. By wiping clean the path of your cutter on the glass, then painting this line with turpentine or any other thin oil.

Q.—How can I make my own reflective tape?

A. Press masking tape onto a strip of cellophane. Coat the back with colored enamel. When the enamel is tacky, pass the tape through reflective glass beads (obtainable in art-supply stores) in a shallow tray or box lid. When the tape is dry, remove from the cellophane and apply it where needed.

Q.—How can I treat musty-smelling tea towels?

A. By boiling for several minutes in water containing two tablespoons of baking soda per quart. Then launder, using a bleach if necessary, and dry in the sun.

Junior Editors Quiz on

QUESTION: How are pearls formed?

ANSWER: Most gems are some form of mineral which has been cut and polished to bring out its beauty, so it can be used for ornament. The pearl ranks as a gem, but is different from the others because it is not made of stone and because nature fashions the shape so we do not have to recut it to bring out the beauty. Pearls grow inside six tropical species of oysters. They begin as a tiny speck of sand or other foreign matter which gets inside the oyster. This irritates the soft body, so the outer edge of the body, called the mantle, covers the speck with the smooth, delicately colored material, or "nacre" which is used to line the inside of the two shells. Gradually, more and more nacre is added; a pearl forms, getting larger and rounder until it is free from the shell (top picture).

Many oysters must be brought up by divers before good pearls are found. But when the captain of a pearling ship finds a really splendid one, it is a most exciting moment, for pearls can have a fabulous value if they have a perfect shape and if the color has that mysterious luster for which these gems are so famous. If a pearl has one single blemish it is as valuable as an unblemished one. Can you figure out why?

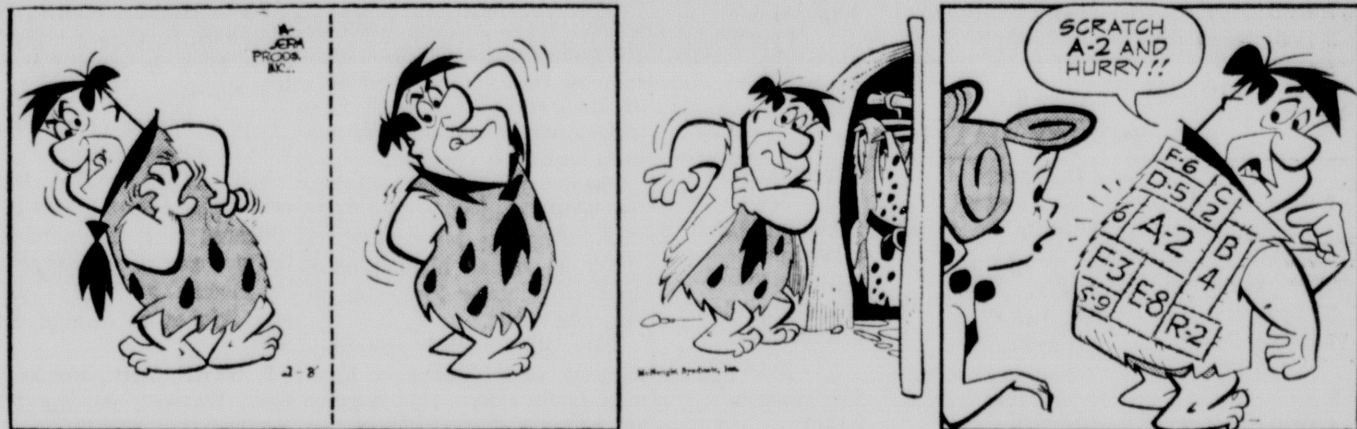

FOR YOU TO DO: Did you get the answer? Almost all pearls are drilled for mounting on necklaces. You could start drilling through the single blemish and the pearl would then look like unblemished ones which are also drilled. Try this question out on your friends—if they figure it out, they're smart!

Dale Hugbule of Phoenix City, Ala., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you too may win a set.

Gas Station Odor Traced

Firemen were called to check an odor of fumes at a St. Clair Ave. service station Friday night, one of four minor alarms answered yesterday and early today.

They were called to Stef Atlantic at St. Clair Ave. and Lang St. after the manager reported the smell of gas.

Firemen said a Ohio Valley Gas Co. crewman was unable to detect any natural gas fumes, but the smell definitely was gasoline.

Asst. Chief Gerald Goodballet said station employees were advised not to operate motors or electric switches until the underground gasoline tanks and lines could be checked.

A 17-year-old city youth, held at City Jail for theft of a television set, cut himself with a piece of glass he found in his cell Friday night, police said.

The W. 7th St. boy was treated at City Hospital at 6:45 p.m. for multiple superficial lacerations of the left forearm, police said.

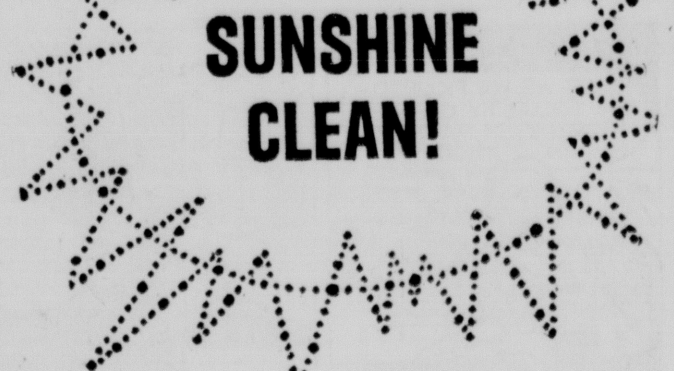

Police Lt. C. E. (Bill) Tice said the youth rapped to get attention about 6:25 p.m. and asked for an aspirin. When officers inquired about the trouble, he held up his arm.

After being rushed to the hospital for treatment, he admitted inflicting the wounds himself with the piece of glass he found on the floor of the cell which he later disposed of, Lt. Tice said.

Before being returned to the jail, the boy was searched by Patrolman L. E. Richard while Officer Sam Hayes inspected the cell, Lt. Tice said.

Police Capt. R. H. Pyle said the youth was taken into custody Friday for the theft of a 19-inch portable television set from the apartment of Raymond Adkins on W. 7th St. The theft occurred between Jan. 22 and Wednesday, police said.

A new radio telescope — believe to be the largest of its kind — has been built by the U.S. government in Puerto Rico's rugged limestone hill country. It will be operated by Cornell University.
